

SCOUT GROUP ON CRITICAL FUND DRIVE

Fate of the Mt. Whitney Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America hangs in the balance as Scout leaders in Porterville this week conduct a critical drive for funds.

Financial state of the council is such that unless money is raised, the council organization will be forced to stop operation. Immediate goal of the Porterville drive, and similar drives in other areas of the council, is to keep the program going through the summer, including the Scout summer camp, and to continue on after summer as long as operating funds are available.

In charge of general solicitations in Porterville is Walter Watkins; general campaign chairman is Reed Hastings; handling solicitations in the Poplar and Cotton Center areas is Tony Ramos, Tule River district chairman.

About 75 solicitors were in the field this week, following a kick-off breakfast Wednesday morning at the American Legion hall in Porterville.

No definite amount has been set as a drive goal. Mr. Hastings states that "a substantial sum" must be raised to guarantee operation of the Scout summer camp, scheduled to open July 13, and to provide for continued services from the Mt. Whitney council.

Excess Cotton Draws Penalty Unless Destroyed

Farmers who have excess cotton acreage must either "plow under" the excess or be subject to penalty.

Representatives of the Tulare County ASC committee began measurement of 1955 cotton acreage on June 1; farmers who have been notified that their planted acreage exceeds their allotment must destroy the excess within 20 days, and so notify the ASC committee, or become subject to penalty.

According to the ASC committee, the penalty "must be paid even though no cotton is marketed from the farm. Rate of penalty is: 50 percent of cotton parity price as of June 15, 1955. Penalty rate for extra long staple is the higher rate of 50 per cent of parity as of June 15, 1955, or 50 per cent of the 1955 support price for such cotton."

In addition to plowing down excess cotton within 20 days of notification of excess, and notifying the ASC committee, a plowdown charge of $5.00, plus 10 cents for each acre or fraction of an acre destroyed is assessed the farmer.

Unless the ASC office is notified and the fee paid, it is stated, it will be assumed the farmer has decided to keep his excess cotton and pay the penalty.

IMPROVED OUTLOOK FOR POULTRY

An improved outlook for poultry in 1955, as compared to 1954, is seen by statisticians of the California Crop and Livestock Reporting service, who state that egg prices through March, 1955, have been approximately equal to a year ago, but because the number of flock replacement chicks hatched has been considerably below the same period in 1954, number of layers, and egg production, should decline sufficiently later in the year to strengthen egg prices.

Producers of broilers and fryers have been receiving better prices the first quarter of 1955 than the year before. The situation during the remainder of the year will depend primarily on the volume of production. Total output is expected to differ little from 1954.

The turkey hatching season started slowly in 1955 with 18 per cent fewer heavy breed and 22 per cent fewer light breed poults hatched from January through March in comparison with the same period in 1954. However, a larger April hatch is in prospect and conditions seem to be shaping up for a large hatch the latter part of the season.

Therefore, the 1955 crop of turkeys might turn out to be close in size to the 1954 crop, despite the original intentions of growers to raise fewer turkeys.

Combined production of all poultry commodities on California farms in 1954 exceeded the 1953 output, with record levels of production being attained for eggs and commercial meat chickens. The production of eggs totaled 4½ billion, seven per cent more (Continued on Page 9)

Mystery Farm Winners Again

Two more winners again this week in the Hastings Equipment company Mystery Farm contest — Ray Hutchinson, of Poplar, gets a free aerial photo of his ranch and Norma Carlisle of Ducor gets three pair of nylons for guessing that last week's mystery farm was the Tony Della ranch.

This week's Mystery Farm appears on page three; guess whose it is, enter the contest at Hastings Equipment company in Porterville and you may win three pair of nylons, for women entering the contest, or an aerial photo of your own ranch — the prize for men.

Ukrainian Wheat To Be Harvested By George Matas In Backyard Field; Seed Obtained On Imbros Island

By Bill Rodgers

A crop of Ukrainian wheat will be harvested next week in the backyard field of George Matas, 2927 East Date street, Porterville, where seed obtained last summer by Mr. Matas on Imbros island in the Aegean sea, has produced a "bumper yield" on a 10 by 10 foot garden plot.

The wheat stands about four feet high, the heads are from three to four inches in length and are well filled with large grain; both a light, golden strain and a dark strain are being grown.

Mr. Matas explains that on Imbros Island, and in Turkey, this type of wheat is generally grown and is used for bread, the golden wheat making a light-colored bread, the dark wheat a dark bread.

"And you never ate any bread in America as good as the bread they make from this wheat in the old country", Mr. Matas says.

In fact, Mr. Matas has a major objective now, the planting of a larger area next spring to produce enough wheat to make flour so that Mrs. Matas can bake some of that good bread.

Mr. Matas returned last summer to his native Embros Island, after 44 years in America. Although he left home in 1910 when about 19 years old, many of the landmarks that he remembered as a boy were unchanged.

But one change was particularly noticeable.

Nancy Meier Is Queen Contestant

Nancy Meier, of Porterville, this week entered the annual contest for "Queen of the Cowgirls" at the California Rodeo and Horse Fair, in Salinas, July 14-17.

Miss Meier, who graduated from Porterville high school this year, has ridden for two years with Porterville's Canterbelles; she was an honor student in school; plays the piano, and plans to attend Fresno State college in the fall.

IRRIGATOR TAKES GUESS WORK OUT OF IRRIGATION BY RECORDING MOISTURE CONTENT IN ROOT ZONES

Mechanics in farming is old stuff now. In fact, with the exception of only a few agricultural practices, just about every phase of farm life has fallen under the spell of mechanization. One of the last to succumb is irrigation, which until a few years ago still depended upon grandfather's rule-by-thumb methods which are a good deal more instinctive than scientific.

Now, thanks to a little gadget known as the Irrimeter, the advantage of mechanical means can be applied to what has been called the most important controllable factor determining crop yields — proper irrigation.

And in this respect, the Irrimeter's mechanical brain is consistently more accurate for determining the proper time to apply water than the farmer's eye. As a matter of fact, the only need the farmer has for his eye as far as irrigation practices are concerned, is to read the dial on the Irrimeter gauge, which will inform him of the plant's need for drink, record the rate at which it is consumed and "say when" at the precise and proper time.

It is in this latter category that the machine's superiority over the rule-by-thumb method is claimed by farmers who have used the system for the past several years. They say that because they no longer apply excessive amounts of water, they are receiving greater yields, and better quality products (Continued on Page 10)

MORE DAIRY PROMOTION IS URGED

More promotional work, aimed at increasing per capita consumption of milk and dairy products, was urged by W. C. Jacobsen, state director of agriculture, when he spoke last Thursday evening at a meeting of the Western Dairy-men's association in Tulare.

He pointed out that per capita consumption of milk has dropped in California since 1952 from 142.31 quarts per year to 140 quarts.

This factor, he said, offsets the fact that California's daily population gain of 1,160 persons offers a constantly increasing potential market for milk and dairy products.

Mr. Jacobsen also said that the drop in consumption occurred during a period when retail prices of milk were twice reduced.

He told dairymen that the high quality of California milk is recognized throughout the nation; he said that Americans get 30 per cent of their food value from dairy products.

State Senator J. Howard Williams, who also spoke, said that dairy quality standards in Tulare county are the highest in the United States; that while surplus production is a problem, quality must still be kept up.

Dr. Robert B. Morrish, Fresno dentist, said that to reverse a losing battle against tooth decay, a program of dental health education should be in operation in the first three grades of school, with milk as the key to the whole program.

Grover Steele, general manager of the Lucerne Milk company of Los Angeles, said that dairy producers and distributors should work as a team, but said there should be no minimum wholesale or retail prices for milk — a point that involves a long legal argument between Safeway stores and the state bureau of milk control.

A MAJOR COMMUNITY STEP

Organization of the Porterville Civic Development Foundation as a non-profit corporation to promote industrial development in the community is a logical move and one that might bring real benefits to the area.

Actually, the organization is in the formative stages, and must get state approval, as does any corporation, before it can start to function.

It's now general knowledge that a major manufacturing firm is ready to come to Porterville, provided certain requirements can be met by the community.

The Foundation is being formed as the medium through which requirements of this one specific firm may be met, but the organization will also function in a permanent capacity to encourage other industrial development.

It should be understood that the Foundation is a non-profit corporation; no individual can profit from his association with the corporation; the 35 members of the incorporating group are all business and professional men, and ranchers, of the community; they are motivated by a desire to serve the community and not by any desire for a quick, direct profit.

And it must also be recognized that industrial development brings problems — site, water, sewage disposal, roads, financing. But there is no problem that can't be met and solved by a positive approach, and a cooperative attitude.

We hope that as industrial problems arise, approach of residents of the community will be positive, cooperative and logical, for if it is, industry will be obtained.

One other point should also be borne in mind — all industry is not desirable industry, but certain types of industry are highly desirable; members of the Foundation board are well aware of this fact.

And it is the desire of no one to industrialize the area over night. Southeastern Tulare county will be primarily an agricultural community for many years to come, perhaps always, but a few payrolls from the right type of industry can be a tremendous asset to the community.

Porterville is on the verge of a major industrial development; it is basically up to the people of the community to decide by their actions and their attitude, whether or not this potential development moves beyond the talking stage into the stage of work, construction and industrial operation.

Agricultural Employment High

Agricultural employment continues high in the San Joaquin valley in the face of the low temperature which has existed, causing many crops to be delayed in their progress. The number of workers employed did drop from 112,000 to 111,000, less farmers and unpaid families, this past week. This, however, continues higher employment than was recorded the same week a year ago when 103,000 workers were employed.

Labor demands will undoubtedly decrease slightly until near the 15th of July when an upward swing can be anticipated with the harvest of peaches and miscellaneous melons getting under way this period.

California's early summer celery acreage, for harvest prior to September 1, is estimated at 2,100 acres, 200 acres more than last year.

FIVE WEEK INTERVALS BEST FOR HAY CUTTING

By William R. Sallee
Farm Advisor

Cutting alfalfa at five week intervals or 1/10 bloom has proven to give good quality hay and the most total digestible protein, however, five weeks cannot always be used as a guide for cutting hay throughout the season because of growing conditions.

In the cool growing season alfalfa should be cut when new shoots are growing out at the bottom of the plant. In the warm season five weeks will usually put hay in 1/10 bloom.

Tests have shown these results. Hay cut at three week intervals yielded lowest in production, highest protein and carotene content. Hay cut at four week intervals yielded low in dry matter, high protein and carotene content. Hay cut at five week intervals yielded greatest amount of dry matter, high protein and carotene. Hay cut at six week intervals gave greatest production, but poorest quality, low protein and carotene.

Regrowth is also affected by the cutting intervals. Hay cut at three weeks takes longer to recover; five weeks makes very good regrowth, and stands will last longer if cut at this interval or 1/10 bloom.

We Only Heard

By BILL RODGERS

SPEAKING OF taxes, and who isn't, it appears that state authorization for county and city sales taxes, up to one per cent, would be a good thing, except, that as new taxes are added at various levels of government, seldom, if ever, is an old tax taken off, or existing taxes readjusted. Right now, we believe that property taxes have just about reached their limit, that too few people are paying, through taxes, for public items used by all the people. A sales tax spreads the tax load — spreads it more widely among the people who use the services provided by taxes and who should pay their just portion for those services. But if sales taxes are added from time to time, while property taxes also continue their upward trend, total result is not the spreading and equalizing of taxation, but, rather, the increasing of tax money available for spending. And if it's available, it will be spent... We would like to see schools, certain public institutions, and such things that all the people profit from, paid for by all the people, not by just those people who own property. Actually, sales taxes come closer to spreading the load to all persons who benefit than do property taxes. But if sales taxes are added, provision should be made at the same time to reduce property taxes, for unless this provision is specifically made, final result is simply more taxes.

AND SPEAKING of beef steak, Swift & Company research has now developed a method to "sterilize" steaks by atomic rays, making said steaks keep without refrigeration. Only bug in the process to date is that atomic-treated steaks have a scorched taste, a problem that Swift expects to eventually solve.

AND SPEAKING of Davy Crockett, this most current junior fad has been a great thing for California trappers — inventories of low-quality furs are dropping, demand is increasing as the small fry grab up those Davy Crockett hats.

AND SPEAKING of things of the past, the Tulare County Historical Society will meet at Mountain Home, Sunday, August 7. This should be a really pleasant and informative meeting since quite a number of people still reside in the county who worked in the old logging camps of the Mountain Home country and who enjoyed summer living in that area some 50, 60, even 70 years ago.

TIME OUT

By Davis Harp

By Davis Harp

It seems that the University of Southern California has a monopoly on the NCAA track and field meet, the Trojans recently made it seven championships in the past seven years.

The men of Troy are strong in every event and it's their depth that makes them the rugged congregation that they are. Some of the better marks of the meet was the terrific leap of Ernie Sheldon in the high jump, the UCLA kangaroo going 6 ft. 11 in., which is further than we can broad jump. Des Koch of SC pitched the discus 176 feet, which can be called respectable. In the shot put it was Bill Neider of Kansas with a toss of 57 ft. The sprints were won by Jim Golliday of Northwestern, the fleet Negro turned a 9.6 century and a 21.1 in the 220.

Jim Bailey of Oregon pulled what might be called an upset in the mile run as he and his teammate, Bill Dillenger, topped the highly rated Bob Seaman of UCLA in what was to be Seaman's bid for a four minute mile. Seaman is a sophomore at UCLA and a few years ago was the top miler here in the valley when he ran for Reedley high school. The ex-Pirate chased the fabulous Wes Santee to a 4.01 mile a couple of weeks ago and many figure that the Bruin thincad is potentially better than Santee.

In the wave of shock that followed the death of Billy Vukovich last month, many overlooked the serious injury of another racing great who bit the dust that day. Cal Niday of Pacoima, California, who hit the wall during the 500

Rainwater, if this gentleman could handle a yellow alert as Civil Defense director as efficiently as he handled last week's yellow alert for himself and the county chamber of commerce at a supervisor's meeting, he'd be terrific.

WHEAT PROGRAM VOTE FAVORABLE

Although Tulare county wheat growers voted just under the necessary two-thirds — 37-23 — and California wheat growers also voted less than two-thirds, federal wheat program, with supports and acreage allotment, was voted Saturday by growers of the nation.

In the state, vote was 667, yes, and 420, no; national vote showed 77.5 per cent in favor of continuation of the government program.

mile classic, is still listed on the critical list at the Indianapolis hospital. In our opinion Niday is an example of great courage and a true sportsman. When Niday graduated from high school he was rated one of the hottest high school football prospects in the state. Then he lost a leg in an accident. This seemed to have ended his athletic career, but wheels took the place of his lost leg and Cal became one of the best in the racing business. To our way of thinking, this Mr. Niday is all guts and it's men like him that make racing the great sport that it is.

Construction Well Underway At Good Shepherd Home

Construction is well under way on the Good Shepherd Lutheran Home of the West, located east of Terra Bella, according to A. K. Hodgson, of Porterville, general contractor on the $125,000 job.

The 36-unit facility will be a combination hospital, home and school, built on a 47-acre plot just north of the Lutheran church, for benefit of retarded youths from the 13 western states.

It is expected that the home will be expanded over a period of years. Three hundred young people will be initially provided for.

FISH FOR FEATHERS

By Phil The Forester

Another three-day holiday will find the fishermen out by the thousands but the fish and game department will be ready for them with all readily accessible roadside fishing waters well stocked with catchable size rainbow. However, at this time of the year, many anglers will hit for the high mountains and wild trout fishing where nature will supply most of the trout take. Most streams and rivers are reported in good conditions, some a bit high but usually clear and most of the mountain roads will be in good shape. Only a few lakes at extreme high elevation are still frozen over.

Quite a few streams will open to trout fishing for the first time on July 1, they having been previously closed as lake spawning waters.

Included are: Upper and Lower Blue lakes and tributaries, Alpine county; tributaries to Silver lake, Amador; Stevenson creek, tributary to Shaver lake and tributaries below first falls; Azalea creek, tributary to Shaver Lake; all tributary streams to Huntington lake; Cottonwood lake and tributaries, Inyo; tributaries of Lake Tahoe; several in Plumas county including tributaries to Bucks lake; several in Sierra county; Cherry creek and West Fork Cherry drainages above the confluence, Tuolumne to mention some. Fishing should be tops in all of these waters.

For anglers interested in the ocean, deep sea fishing is very good, ocean salmon fishing has picked up again, and striped bass are hitting in many areas. Abalone and clam diggers will find minus tides and plenty of shellfish.

The first of California's game hunting seasons will open July 23 when it will become legal to take deer and black bear in the central and south coastal areas by bow and arrow. The gun season follows in the same area August 6. A new law this year prohibits the archer from having firearms in possession or under immediate control while hunting during the archery deer and bear seasons.

Last year the bow and arrow fraternity accounted for a record of 148 deer, of which 63 were taken in Los Angeles county. Other high productive counties for the archers were Mendocino, seven; Plumas and Siskiyou, six each; Lake, five and Tehama and Tulare, four each.

The fish and game commission will meet on June 30 at which time all the proposed special deer hunts will be acted upon. The special late buck season for Mariposa and Tuolumne counties appears doomed if the special hearing on the subject held in Mariposa

NEW SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS TO TAKE OFFICE

Terms of new school board members of southeastern Tulare county start officially July 1, with Howard Baker, who defeated Mike Army in the May election, to be seated on the Porterville Union High School and College board. Ray Hutchinson, incumbent, was reelected to the board.

New member of the Porterville Elementary board will be Free-land Wilson; incumbent reelected to this board was L. C. Kaylor. At Alta Vista, Richard A. Smith will be a new board member, and at Citrus South Tule, Darrell Byers goes onto the board.

At Pleasant View, where board was increased from three to five members, John F. Taggard and Harold Wilcox will be the new members; incumbent Melvin Fraser was reelected.

Joaquin G. Parsons goes onto the Ducor board; Incumbent Marian Luthrie was reelected. Wendell Eckert, a successful write-in candidate, goes onto the Strathmore Elementary board.

HOMEMAKER CAMP OPENS AUGUST 1

Women of Tulare county are invited to attend a homemakers' camp the week of August 1-6 at Whitaker forest; fee is $14 for the week, including meals and lodging.

Miss Adena Joy, human relations specialist from the University of California, will be at the camp; activities will include swimming, hiking and craft work. Full information can be obtained from Clara Cowgill, farm and home advisor, post office building, Visalia.

YOUR PAY DIRT is in your Plant's or Tree's ROOT SYSTEM

IRROMETERS

"look" into your crop's root system to let you control your soil moisture.

IRROMETERS literally "lift" the topsoil and look into the root system to tell you when, and how much to irrigate. The farmer who says, "I can tell by the looks of my crop when to irrigate", is "kidding" himself. The slightest evidence of wilt indicates your crop's growth is being stunted by "starvation" in dry soil... and "how about" subsoil remaining too wet or too dry? Guessing at irrigation is a poor way to raise bumper yields. Especially when it costs little to know (not guess) when to irrigate with IRROMETERS! Located in key areas, and at varying depths, IRROMETERS evaluate the many varying soil and climate factors, and register available soil moisture directly, accurately, and continuously. At a glance IRROMETERS tell you exactly when, and how long to irrigate! WRITE for users nearest you!

SPRING LAMB MAKES FINE SHASHLIK

California Spring lamb now coming to market throughout the state offers wide menu variations. Spark up tired appetites with unusual dishes planned around this most delicious meat. If yours is a family that likes the exotic, try an Armenian, Turkish, Greek or Persian dish using lamb.

You'll find that in most dishes using small chunks of boneless lamb that inexpensive lamb shoulder will provide just the morsel.

Shoulder pieces are right for Shish Kabob and Pilafs. Try it too in this delicately flavored Armenian Shashlik.

To make delicious Shashlik you'll need these easy to get ingredients:

2 lbs. boneless lamb shoulder
1 clove garlic
1/4 cup salad oil
1/4 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon mixed ground spice
1 teaspoon ground dry mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
few drops of Tabasco sauce

Cut lamb in 1-inch cubes. Rub bowl with cut garlic clove; leave garlic in bowl. Add salad oil, vinegar and seasoning; mix well. Add lamb cubes, let stand several hours, turning occasionally. Drain. String on skewers; broil 20 minutes, turning in order to brown evenly. Serve Shashlik as you would Shish Kabob or a good variation at picnics calls for this lamb treat served on toasted hot-dog buns. Serves six.

NAVY RESERVE COURSES OPEN TO HIGH GRADS

The Navy again offers the contract Navy Reserve Officers' Training corps program to high school graduates who intend to enter college in the fall. The contract NROTC program offers a Navy officers' commission to selected students upon graduation from college.

Accepted applicants must take certain naval science courses during four years of college, and agree to serve on active duty for two years as an officer after graduation under this plan.

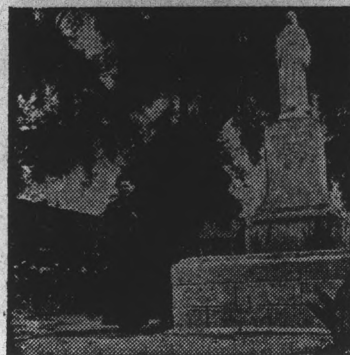

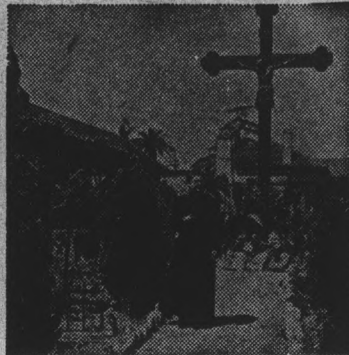

Contract college students enjoy selective service deferment while attending school. They will take one summer cruise on a ship, usually to a foreign port, and attend scheduled drill periods.

Information on the program can be obtained from professors of naval science at colleges having NROTC units, from high school counselors, or from the Navy Recruiting Office, in the post office building, Room #6, Porterville, phone 2491.

Visitors To California Invited To Attend La Fiesta De San Gabriel

Scenes above depict activities in preparation for La Fiesta de San Gabriel at Old San Gabriel Mission, San Gabriel, California, September 2 to 5.

The Fiesta attracts thousands of visitors from all over America, who this year will join in celebrating the 184th Anniversary of one of the oldest missions in California.

Tours through the gardens, the mission quadrangle and the museum with its fine old paintings faithfully reproducing the Fourteen Stations of the Cross will be enjoyed by the Fiesta time visitors, and all visitors throughout the year. Daily tours are conducted.

The original church altar bearing six magnificent wooden polychromed statues dedicated in 1805 and the hand hammered copper baptismal shell in use since 1771, are but a few of the countless interesting features of Old San Gabriel Mission.

County Budget

Tulare county budget for the 1955-56 year has been set at $18,665,305, an increase of $780,456 over last year.

HALF MILLION DOLLARS TO CALCOT MEMBERS

There was a half-million dollars in the mail last week to Calcot growers, whose membership in the cotton marketing association dates back to 1948.

According to Russell Kennedy, general manager of Calcot, Ltd., the payment represents full distribution of grower reserves for the 1948-49 season and averages $4.74 per bale on cotton marketed through the cooperative that year.

More than 1400 cotton growers will participate in the reserve distribution.

Despite acreage restrictions, the current marketing volume of the organization is more than double that of the 1948-49 season and membership growth reflects similar gains, Mr. Kennedy said.

Calcot growers own and operate extensive marketing facilities at Fresno and Bakersfield, also an enroute cotton storage plant near Houston, Texas. Some 3,000 California cotton growers are members of the cooperative.

APPOINTMENTS WILL BE MADE TO ACADEMIES

U. S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel announced this week that he will have vacancies to fill in all three defense service academies in the class entering in 1956.

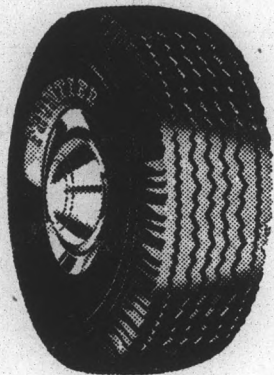

The civil service examinations, on which Senator Kuchel bases his nominations, will be held in various California cities and towns July 11. Youths desiring to take the test should communicate with the senator's office without delay so that necessary forms can be sent them on which to gain entrance to the examinations.

Candidates must be between the ages of 17 and 22 on July 1, 1956.

Commercial broiler and fryer crop of 50 million birds was three per cent larger than the previous year. Ten million turkeys and 29 million farm chickens were raised, one per cent and six per cent, respectively, more than were raised in 1953.

A record number of chicks were hatched by commercial hatcheries, with the 1954 output of 107 million being five per cent greater than for the previous year. Turkey poult production exceeded the 1953 hatch by one per cent.

Unfavorable economic conditions were prevalent in the poultry industry during 1954. Prices of all poultry commodities were the lowest in 10 years or more. For individual commodities, average 1954 farm prices were below 1953 prices by the following percentages: eggs, 28 per cent; broilers and fryers, 10 per cent; turkeys, 15 per cent; and farm chickens, 26 per cent.

The cost of poultry feed during the year was near the level of 1953. Consequently poultry feed ratios were very low — the lowest of any year since records began in 1941. Prior to 1954 and during the years of record, the lowest ratios were recorded in 1952 for eggs and turkeys and in 1953 for chickens. The highest ratios were in 1943 for all items. Cash farm receipts dropped from $302 million in 1953 to $247 million in 1954, a reduction of 18 per cent.

Weeds Stunt Growth Of Young Citrus

Growth of young citrus trees will be stunted if weeds are not controlled, according to Farm Advisor Karl W. Opitz; weeds may also harbor insect pests that damage citrus. Weed control can be obtained by hoeing, or shallow cultivation; if sprayed week-killer is used, trunks of young trees should be protected.

STRATHMORE POST OFFICE WILL BE MOVED

Ukrainian Wheat

grain crop on the island. But last year I couldn't find even one loaf of barley bread. Everyone raises wheat now, and uses it for flour, instead of barley.

From his old home, where a sister still lives, Mr. Matas brought six heads of the golden grain and six heads of the dark grain on his return to America. Two heads were given to a brother in Texas; two heads were given to a Porterville friend, and he still has two of the original heads.

Which left only six heads for planting, but grain from these six heads produced a crop to make seed for a larger plot next year.

Mr. Matas says that he is no farmer, but he believes the Ukrainian wheat would do well in Tulare county. He grew his wheat crop on sandy soil, without much care and with only a small amount of water. He says that wheat is dry-farmed in Turkey much as it is in southeastern Tulare county.

In recalling his trip to his homeland, Mr. Matas tells of spending last Fourth of July at the home of his sister. Since he is an American citizen, he carried a small American flag with him, and to celebrate the Fourth, he asked his sister to hold an open house for all the neighbors, and to mark the occasion, he hung his American flag and a Turkish flag over the door of his sister's home.

About 500 people attended the open house; Mr. Matas was the only American present and, as befitting such an affair, he attempted to explain the significance of Independence day in America.

Mr. Matas is a painter and contractor by trade; he has resided in Porterville for about 12 years, after making his home in Los Angeles.

Anyone interested in his Ukrainian wheat is invited to visit his home and compare this variety with the common varieties grown in Tulare county.

If you happen by next year, about this time, you might be able to get a piece of home-made bread, baked with flour from Ukrainian wheat.

And if you are that fortunate, "It will be the finest bread you ever tasted", Mr. Matas promises.

Irrrometer Takes

through conservation of soil nutrients which formerly were lost by leaching, due to over-irrigation.

These farmers are mostly citrus growers in the southern part of the state where the majority of experiments with the Irrrometer have been conducted, due to the machine's development in that area. But, field tests with other crops this past year, seem to indicate its practicability to any irrigation problem.

Technically, the instrument is described as a tension meter with a hermetically sealed gauge that is activated by a vacuum. In usage, it registers the available soil moisture in terms of atmospheric hundredths. Irrrometers are placed at strategic intervals in fields and groves and at varying degrees of soil depths to record the moisture at the surface, the feeder root zone and the root density zone.

Readings are taken about every 48 hours during the irrigating season. When the dial hand on the gauge drops to a warning position, irrigation is started; when it registers in the safety zone, irrigation is complete. Naturally, the time element will vary with types of soil.

Experience has shown that the total water used during the season by using the Irrrometer method, will be about the same or slightly less than before, but that the frequency of irrigations will be increased. This, of course, results because water is applied as the plants require it, as indicated on the machine's dial, rather than waiting for the "willow in the hollow to show signs of wilt."

Being an old "willow wilter irrigator" myself, and a sentimentalist to boot, I kind of hate to see the old willow relegated to the realm of the dodo. I admit that as a barometer for forecasting the plants' water requirements, it had its faults, but at least I could sit in its shade.

From

Daybell
Nursery
By John

Many people, while on vacations, worry about their gardens. Most are afraid everything will die during their absence and nothing will be left when they return. Now they really shouldn't worry a bit, because there will be plenty of living things in the garden to greet them. Firstly there will be slugs and snails, a few aphids, beetles, tall weeds, and the neighbors' kids playing Davey Crockett. Next there will be ants and lastly a dozen single white flowered things they got at Daybell's for double mixed.

The white flowered things you can return and we'll give you credit towards the purchase of snail bait, ant poison, aphid spray, and a shot of fertilizer. The neighbors' children you can send home — or better still, you can move, build a new home, and let us landscape it for you. No charge for plans and estimates.

Truthfully, and more economically, vacationers should prepare their yards before leaving. An application of Snarol or Bug-geta will keep the garden free of many pests. Bug shot containing Chlordane settles the ants. A good mulch of peat moss will keep the plants moist and care in planting will give your flowers resistant to neglect. If you have someone looking after the place, supply him with good tools. When he leaves, along with the tools, he'll think of you much more pleasantly. After all, good will is a valuable thing.

Speaking of vacations — we will be closed Sunday and Monday, July 3 and 4. We will also be closed Sundays until fall. This gives both of us one day a week off.
